

Heart Health Checks: the critical role of the practice nurse

A Health Professional Webinar

When?

Thursday, February 6, 2020

What Time?

07:00 PM AEDT - 08:00 PM AEDT

Where?

ONLINE

Register at www.webcasts.com.au/heart

About the Webinar

Approximately 76,500 cardiovascular disease related events—including heart attacks, strokes and deaths—could be prevented with the uptake of Heart Health Checks over the next five years.

The new Heart Health Check MBS item provides general practitioners and primary health care nurses with an incentivised opportunity to initiate an early and continuing relationship with their at-risk patients not already known to have CVD.

General practice nurses are at the heart of care

The National Heart Foundation and the Australian Primary Health Care Nurses Association (APNA) have assembled a panel of experts so you can learn more about supporting the heart health of your patients.

Join our webinar for practical advice on:

- implementation of the new Heart Health Check MBS item
- the role of the practice nurse in supporting absolute CVD risk assessment
- new primary care data outlining gaps in practice around CVD risk factor assessment
- system level nurse operated strategies to maximise quality improvement through the primary prevention of CVD

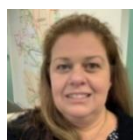

Our expert panel

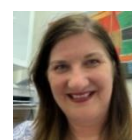

Margaret Dempsey
(facilitator)

Ralph Audehm

Lisa Taliana

Kathy Godwin

